

Relations with stakeholders have one of the key roles in the development of organizations and institutional development. Institutional Development stresses the surrounding (stakeholders and factors) in which the development intervention is carried out. The sustainability of the development activities and the integration of (development) organizations into their surrounding are the key issues concerning Institutional Development. As such, Institutional Development is interested in the position that the organization holds in its surrounding and defines the goals and activities on which it will focus.

- Public relations
- Networking and partnership
- Communication skills
- Inter-cultural study
- Conflict resolution
- Negotiation